

My Garden Pollinators

STEP 1

Color your pollinators and flowers.

STEP 2

Cut out on the dotted line.

STEP 3

Pollinators: Use tape to connect tab A to tab B.

Flower: Make your own flower garden by laying the colorful flowers on the floor.

STEP 4

Place loop of the pollinator on your finger or wrist and "fly" it to your flowers for a drink of nectar!

Butterflies, hummingbirds, songbirds and bees add wonderful movement and great interest to our gardens. Attracting these winged friends to your garden is a fairly simple matter. Provide them with food, water and shelter and they are happy to come and stay a while.

Today, make your own pollinator and garden for inside!

YOUR CHOICE OF COLOR!

Fun Fact:

Although hummingbirds eat tiny insects, their preferred food is nectar.

Fun Fact:

Hummingbirds are attracted to the color red.

Fun Fact:

Hummingbirds use extreme amounts of energy; making it necessary for the birds to feed every 10 to 15 minutes from dawn until sunset.

ATTRACTS HUMMINGBIRDS

Start your hummingbird garden with a beautiful Summerific[®] 'Cherry Choco Latte' Hibiscus. Look for other great varieties such as Holy Grail, or Evening Rose!

Suncredible[®] Yellow
Helianthus

Did you know?

Every year, 300 million monarch butterflies migrate 2000 miles from North America to a forest in Mexico to hibernate through the winter months.

Fun Fact:
 Butterflies love reds, yellows and oranges.

Grown-ups

Plant your own pollinator garden!

The following plants are useful in the attraction of hummingbirds and other pollinators:

Annuals

- Helianthus (Sunflower)
- Lantana
- Cuphea
- Salvia
- Gomphrena

Shrubs

- Buddleia
- Rose of Sharon
- Weigela

Perennials

- Monarda
- Hibiscus
- Coreopsis
- Echinacea

Find pollinator attracting varieties you can plant in containers or your garden here:
www.beauty.provenwinners.com/landscape-recipes/pollinator-garden-recipe/

Tomorrow: Now that you're a pollinator pro, start thinking about the pollinator plants you want to see your yard! When the time is right, visit a local garden center to get everything you need to attract butterflies and hummingbirds all summer long.